

Owen King - Principal Investigator
owen.king1979@gmail.com

Public engagements with induced seismicity:

lessons for geothermal energy in the UK's net-zero transition

“Controversies around induced seismicity affirmed [...] that regarding the public as misinformed and deficient of scientific understanding is ineffective in addressing such controversies. Rather, geoscience must actively engage with alternative forms of knowledge and first-hand experiences of subsurface events.”

UNIVERSITY OF BIRMINGHAM

Project partners

British Geological Survey

Durham
University

Durham Energy Institute